

Limited staff and resources, lack of time, and the prohibitive cost of subscription services may not allow all organizations to devote a full effort to critical first stages of researching external funding options. Therefore, the NASSMC GrantSeeker service helps identify both federal and private funding opportunities exclusively designed to meet the needs of member coalitions.

GrantSeeker is a personalized, one-on-one assistance service that provides custom grants searches based on your program ideas and needs. Requests may be submitted online, and will be researched, responded to and followed-up personally by NASSMC staff.

NASSMC has access to information on over 300,000 public and private sponsoring agencies, including program announcements and guidelines, application materials, the latest updates and deadlines, awards lists, and funded proposals.

The GrantSeeker Web page also highlights issues that would be of concern to member coalitions as they pursue external funding opportunities. Major national, regional, and state programs, upcoming deadlines, agency news, and regulations and policies that affect sponsored programming are posted here.
